

BEST ARTICLE & BEST PHOTOGRAPH ON A HUMANITARIAN SUBJECT

THEME REPORTING ON THE FATE OF VICTIMS OF NATURAL/MAN- MADE DISASTERS

FOR JOURNALISTS

If you have had any of your stories published, a story that reflects the humanitarian impact of natural/man-made disaster, then please do send it to us

FOR PHOTOJOURNALISTS

If you have managed to capture on your lens the devastating impact of natural/man-made disaster and have had the photograph published, then please do send it to us

Disasters shatter and destroy lives.
They spread poverty and undermine development.

1st Prize – ₹ 60,000

2nd Prize – ₹ 40,000

3rd Prize – ₹ 25,000

(Separately for each category)

Rules for sending entries

- Entries should be sent by 15 September 2016 and the results will be announced by November 2016
- The article or photo should have been published in an Indian national or regional newspaper or magazine between April 2015 and March 2016
- For all articles printed in regional languages, an exact English translation is mandatory
- Only one entry per individual is permitted for either category. The participating candidate will have to produce the proof of his or her article or picture published in the respective newspaper or magazine
- Relatives of members of the jury and organizers are not allowed to participate; the decision of the jury is final
- Entries with complete details can be emailed to editor@piind@gmail.com or sent to the Press Institute of India, RIND Premises, Second Main Road, Taramani CPT Campus, Chennai - 600113

For any clarifications, contact:

Sashi Nair, Director & Editor, Press Institute of India, Mobile: +91-9042231343, E-mail: editor@piind@gmail.com, Website: www.pressinstitute.in

Surinder Singh Oberoi, Political and Communication Advisor, International Committee of the Red Cross, Mobile: +91 9871798386, Email: soberoi@icrc.org, Website: www.icrc.org a competition organized by:

The Press Institute of India (PII), Chennai & The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), New Delhi